A House of Prayer & A House of the Poor

On one of the many occasions when Jesus entered the temple, he said “my house shall be a house of prayer” (Is 56:7; Lk 19:45). Many, if not most of us consider our parish an extension of our own home. Some of our most treasured memories take place here: baptisms, First Communions, Sacrament of Confirmation, weddings, anointing of the sick and funerals. The church is also a place of life-long learning for children and adults. Our parish home is a meeting-place of friends and a refuge where we are sure to find Christ, our friend. Prayer is a beautiful dialogue between God and us in which we listen and speak to each other.

Through our baptism we truly become a living house of prayer as St. Paul says “Do you not know that your bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit” (1 Cor 6:19). Over the course of this year we will be renovating our house of prayer with a fortified foundation of communal and personal prayer. Two thousand years ago one of the disciples said to Jesus, “Lord, teach us to pray” (Lk 11:1). Through our liturgies, homilies, retreats, website and bulletin resources, bible studies and faith formation programs, our Lord will teach us how to pray and to discover in prayer a place of “light, happiness, and peace” (Roman Canon).

However, God’s house, our house of prayer, must extend beyond the walls of the church. Shortly after his election, Pope Francis told journalists “Ah, how I would like a church that is poor, and for the poor.” Throughout the year, each of us will be given several opportunities to embrace the joy and responsibility of responding boldly and generously to this call to be a house of the poor.

Jesus told us that the greatest commandment in the law is to love God and your neighbor as yourself. And so, will journey together this year to rediscover the joy of living this twofold commandment by becoming: A House of Prayer and a House of the Poor.

Una Casa de Oración y La Casa de los Pobres

En una de las muchas ocasiones en que Jesús entró en el templo, dijo: "Mi casa será una casa de la oración". (Is 56, 7; Lc 19:45). Muchos, si no la mayoría de nosotros consideramos nuestra parroquia una extensión de nuestra propia casa. Algunos de nuestros más preciados recuerdos de este lugar son donde hemos tenido: bautizos, primeras comuniones, sacramento de la confirmación, bodas, la unción de los enfermos y funerales. La iglesia es también un lugar de aprendizaje de por vida para los niños y adultos. Nuestra casa parroquial es un lugar de encuentro de amigos y un refugio donde estamos seguros de encontrar a Cristo, nuestro amigo, que siempre está dispuesto a escuchar y con ganas de hablar con nosotros. A esto le llamamos escuchar y hablar a la oración a Dios.

Sin embargo, a través de nuestro bautismo nos convertimos verdaderamente una casa viva de la oración como St. Paul dice "¿No sabéis que vuestros cuerpos son templos del Espíritu Santo" (I Cor 6:19). En el transcurso de este año estaremos renovando nuestra casa de oración con una base fortificada de la oración comunitaria y personal. Hace 2.000 años, uno de los discípulos dijeron a Jesús: "Señor, enséñanos a orar" (Lucas 11, 1). A través de nuestras liturgias, homilias, retiros, sitios web y anuncios recursos, estudios bíblicos y los programas de formación en la fe, el Señor nos enseñe a orar ya descubrir en la oración un lugar de "la luz, la felicidad y la paz" (Canon romano).

La casa de Dios - nuestra casa - de la oración, sin embargo, se debe extender más allá de los muros de la iglesia. Poco después de su elección, el Papa dijo a los periodistas Francisco "Ah, cómo me gustaría una iglesia que es pobre, y para los pobres". A lo largo del año cada uno de nosotros se le dará varias oportunidades para abrazar la alegría y la responsabilidad de responder con valentía y generosidad a esta llamada a ser una casa de los pobres.

Jesús nos dijo que el mandamiento más importante de la ley es amar a Dios ya tu prójimo como a ti mismo. Y así, vamos a caminar juntos este año para redescubrir la alegría de vivir esta doble mandamiento al convertirse en:

Casa de la Oración y una Cámara de los Pobres.
